

Eimer Stahl Named Best National Boutique Finalist by The American Lawyer in 2018

September 18, 2018

Eimer Stahl has been named as one of only seven finalists in The American Lawyer's Industry Awards in the category of Best National Boutique/Specialty Litigation Department of the Year.

This is the third time The American Lawyer has recognized the country's top litigation boutiques. In 2005, Eimer Stahl received an honorable mention in The American Lawyer's Litigation Boutique of the Year contest, and it was also featured in the 2009 issue. In Eimer Stahl's 2018 nomination, the firm highlighted its long-standing relationships with clients, and the high-profile antitrust and commercial litigation work it handles on their behalf, as well as the frequency with which the firm is hired to replace Biglaw firms on bet-the-company litigation.

The American Lawyer Industry Awards honor and recognize those in the legal community who not only continually demonstrate exemplary service to their clients, but also prove to be exceptional industry leaders in terms of technology, innovation and relationship management. The winner of the 2018 Best National Boutique/Specialty Litigation Department of the Year will be announced at a gala on December 5th in New York City.